Dear Mr Roland Reid

TOWN AND COUNTRY PLANNING (SCOTLAND) ACT 1997
ENFORCEMENT INVESTIGATION 12/00679/ECOU
1 Shrub Place Edinburgh

I refer to previous correspondence between yourself and this Department regarding a possible breach of planning control at the above site.

I can now advise you that the investigation into the issues raised has now been completed. On the basis of the findings of that investigation, it has been determined that no further action should be taken in respect of the matter. Planning legislation allows the planning authority not to take any action if it does not consider it expedient to do so.

For a more detailed explanation of our reasons for taking no action in the case which you raised with us, you can view the enforcement report. This can be accessed through the Council's Planning and Building Standards public access. Alternatively, you can telephone the officer on the number provided below.

I would however like to take this opportunity to thank you for your interest and for drawing the matter to our attention.

Yours sincerely

Val Malone
